Missouri
Ranch Horse Association

Supporting
ranch-style horsemanship and the all-around stock horse athlete

Missouri Ranch Horse Association (MRHA) is open to all registered stock horses. This association endorses the "broke" horse and does not approve of gimmicks and/or politics at horse shows. The MRHA promotes the all-around stock horse athlete with conformation to work hard and stay sound. This association looks for natural appearance, movement and carriage in horses shown. The MRHA also promotes exhibitors with ranch-style horsemanship skills. Those who can work as a team with their horse and show with good hand and leg aids. The MRHA hires qualified ranch-style judges who can see and will use horses and exhibitors performing the event as stated in the rules. Horses are shown in working tack and exhibitors wear western hat, boots, shirt and jeans.
